DESCRIPTION

Have you ever visited a place and noticed that some of the houses or tourist attractions are very representative of that city or neighborhood? In this course, students will converse about homes and other places in their local area that are relevant to them. Additionally, they will plan and present a mini tour of an interesting site in their city. In this course, students discover what life is like for other people in another culture through direct video exchanges with peers from another culture. Additionally, students effectively interact to discuss similarities and differences between their own and other cultures around the world and ask questions to elicit further information.
